

WORKSHOPS

Applying Human Rights to Sexual and Reproductive Health A reality for all?

Group A:

How are Human Rights Based Approaches to programming best applied?

Moderated by Monika Christofori-Khadka, Schweizerisches Rotes Kreuz

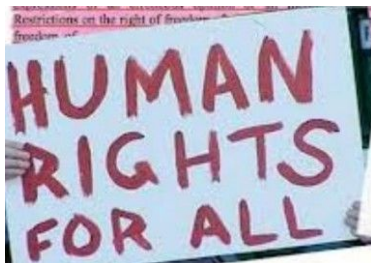

In this workshop we will discuss how the principles of human rights based approaches such as participation, empowerment, partnerships and accountability are best applied to programming, what are the challenges and lessons learnt.

Group B:

Advocacy for sexual and reproductive health: Using human rights mechanisms

Moderated by Janet Perkins, Enfants du Monde and Stuart Halford, The Sexual Rights Initiative

Non-governmental organizations (NGOs) play a vital role in advancing SRHR. They monitor State activities, perform fieldwork, and advocate at the national, regional and global levels.

In this workshop we will discuss how NGOs can advocate for the advancement of SRHR at the national level using human rights mechanisms, the challenges that exist, and what can be done to overcome them.

Group C:

Gender Based Violence – how to overcome the challenges?

Moderated by Jasna Zecevic Vive Zene and Anja Baier, IAMANEH

NGOs often take a service provider role to provide the necessary protection and support for GBV survivors. In order to push the responsibility taking and accountability of the governments for SGBV response, service delivering NGOs also have to engage in awareness raising, capacity building and advocacy and lobbying work. We will discuss the challenges of such a multifaceted role of NGOs and analyse possible support mechanisms that can secure and strengthen their role and influence on the different levels.
