

Youth Participation Guide:

Assessment, Planning, and Implementation

YouthNet/Family Health International
In collaboration with Advocates for Youth

YouthNet

Users of the Youth Participation Guide are invited to provide comments on how they adapted some of the sessions to the local environment. Please send your correspondence to the attention of Project Coordinators, Hally Mahler and Maxwell Marx.

Editors:

Maxwell Marx, William Finger, and Hally Mahler

Copy Editor:

Karen Dickerson

Design and Production:

Hopkins Design Group, Ltd.

YouthNet is a five-year program funded by the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) to improve reproductive health and prevent HIV among young people. The YouthNet team is led by Family Health International (FHI) and includes CARE USA and RTI International. This publication is funded through the USAID Cooperative Agreement with FHI for YouthNet, No. GPH-A-00-01-00013-00. The information contained in the publication does not necessarily reflect FHI or USAID policies.

Youth Participation Guide: Assessment, Planning, and Implementation

© 2005 by Family Health International

ISBN: 0-939704-93-5

Family Health International, YouthNet Program

2101 Wilson Boulevard, Suite 700

Arlington, VA 22201 USA

703-516-9779 (telephone)

703-516-9781 (fax)

www.fhi.org/youthnet (Web site)

Acknowledgments

YouthNet/Family Health International (FHI) staff are identified by name only; others are identified by name and organization.

Section I. Youth Participation Conceptual Overview

Authors: Shyam Thapa, Smita Sonti, and William Finger

Section II. Background Handouts

Compiled by: Kent Klindera, Advocates for Youth; Maxwell Marx, Hally Mahler, Usha Vatsia, and William Finger

Technical Guidance:

Cecilia Moya and Nicole Cheetham, Advocates for Youth

Doortje Braken, Kathryn Faulkner, and Naomi Imayi,
International Planned Parenthood Federation (IPPF)

Denise Kohn, IPPF/Western Hemisphere Region

Rhodora M. Roy-Raterta, Family Planning Association of the Philippines

Angela Sebastiani Pellegrini, INNPARES/Peru

Guntoro Utamedi, Indonesia Planned Parenthood Association

Joseph Robinson, ASHE Caribbean Performing Arts Ensemble

Gabriela Canepa, Social Impact

Roger Thiombiano and Sylvain Ky, Mwangaza/Burkina Faso

Grace Delano and Kehinde Osinowo,
Association for Reproductive and Family Health/Nigeria

John Faber, Young Adult Roundtable HIV Community Planning Initiative/USA

Section III. Institutional Assessment and Planning Tool

Authors: Michele Seibou, Maxwell Marx, Usha Vatsia, Hally Mahler, YouthNet; and Gabriela Canepa, Social Impact

Editorial Assistance: Maryanne Pribila and Napat Phisanbut

Section IV. Youth-Adult Partnership Training Curriculum

Authors: Kent Klindera, Naina Dhingra, and Jane Norman, Advocates for Youth

Contributors: Hally Mahler and Maxwell Marx

Editorial Assistance: Sue Alford, Advocates for Youth

Four main resources were used extensively in conceptualizing sections of the Youth Participation Guide:

- ◆ Life Planning Education (Advocates for Youth, 1995)
- ◆ Creating Youth-Adult Partnerships (Innovation Center for Community and Development, 2003)
- ◆ Qualitative Methods: A Field Guide for Applied Research in Sexual and Reproductive Health (FHI, 2002)
- ◆ Youth-Adult Partnerships Show Promise: YouthLens 4 (YouthNet/FHI, 2003)

Four pilot training sessions and a training-of-trainers (TOT) workshop were conducted to pre-test the training curriculum, and one field test was conducted on the assessment and planning tool. A field test of the entire Guide was done in Tanzania. The project coordinators wish to thank the following for assistance in these trainings:

- ◆ The entire YouthNet staff for participating in the first pilot training, held in Arlington, VA, June 2002.
- ◆ The organizers and participants in the second pilot training, organized by the FHI/Caribbean Regional Office Management Team in St. Kitts/Nevis, the Caribbean Country Coordinators, and partner nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), August 2002.
- ◆ The organizers and participants in the third pilot training, coordinated by the FHI/Nairobi Office (especially Maggwa Baker Ndugga, Emily Nwankwo, and Mellyne Onyango) with Sammy Oinyaku, Maasai AIDS Prevention Network; and George Kaggwa, AMKENI Project, August 2002.
- ◆ In the fourth pilot, participants who were attending the African Youth Alliance Annual Review Meeting, held in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania, October 2002.
- ◆ Participants at the four-day TOT workshop, held in Uganda in June 2003, selected through the Empowering Africa's Young People Initiatives coordinated by the International Youth Foundation (IYF), with consultant and co-facilitator Usha Vatsia.

- ◆ For help in organizing the various pilot tests: Audrey Elster and Ginette Vival, UNFPA; Judy Senderowitz, Pathfinder International; Annette Omare and Sravani Robinson, IYF; and Steve LaVake.
- ◆ For the assessment and planning tool pilot training, held in St. Vincent and the Grenadines, April and May 2003: the entire FHI/Caribbean Regional Office staff (especially Mavis Huggins, Hensley Daniel, Kinsley Duncan, and Alric Skerritt) and their partner organizations' staff and youth.
- ◆ The participants and organizers of the full field test of the Guide in Tanzania, April and May 2004: the entire staff at YouthNet/Tanzania country program (especially Mark Robbins and Alice Ijumba), Tanzania Scouts Association (especially Rajab Kondo and Devina Adosi), Elimu Ya Malezi Ya Ujana (EMAU), Tanzania Youth Aware Trust Fund (TAYOA), and Iringa Development of Youth Disabled and Children Care (IDYDC).

Finally, the project coordinators appreciate the assistance of those who reviewed all or portions of the Guide: Nicole Cheetham, Debra Hauser, and Addis Taye (Advocates for Youth); Mavis Huggins, Joan Didier, Alric Skerritt, Hensley Daniel, Sharalee Benjamin, Dona-Lisa Pena, Monique Essed-Fernandes (FHI/Caribbean Regional Office); Donald R. Swanson (Monmouth University); Rachel Gunther (Youth on Board); Allison Bourque and Hartley Hobson (The Innovation Center for Community and Youth Development); Amy Weissman (Save the Children); Joseph E. Miti and Fredrick S. Waibi (EMAU), Samuel M. Matiko and Salma Hussein (TAYOA); Jacob L. Milinga and Monica Maswali (IDYDC); Alexandra Todd (U.S. Agency for International Development); and JoAnn Lewis, Jane Schueller, and Nancy Williamson (FHI).

